THE INDUSTRY CRISIS

Conflict of Interest in Self-Certification

Most manufacturers issue their own COAs — effectively "grading their own homework." This internal reporting lacks the impartiality required for high-stakes clinical applications.

Unverified Regulatory Claims

A "GMP Certified" label is merely a static claim until it is validated on-site. Without forensic facility audits, regulatory compliance remains an unmitigated risk.

Chain of Custody Vulnerabilities

Product integrity often fails after leaving the factory. Without end-to-end oversight, temperature excursions and tampering pose invisible threats to patient safety.

THE FORENSIC AUDIT FRAMEWORK

1

On-Site Forensic Inspection

Physical facility validation and manufacturing protocol review conducted on the ground at major hubs (e.g., Suzhou BioBAY) to verify real-world compliance.

2

Blind Sample Laboratory Analysis

Independent purity, identity, and concentration testing via Janoshik — the industry's gold standard for unbiased pharmaceutical analysis.

3

End-to-End Custody Assurance

Rigorous logistical oversight from the laboratory bench to your clinic door. Every handoff is documented to ensure environmental stability and product security.

4

Mitigated Transactional Risk (Escrow)

Total capital protection. Funds are only released from escrow once delivery and quality benchmarks are fully verified. Zero financial exposure for the practitioner.
